WHEELER SAYS NEW YORK BANKS SHAPE POLICY OF U.S. IN NICARAGUA

Designed to Help Brown Bros. and J. & W. Seligman
Exploit Little Nation
He Tells Senate.

COOLIDGE MESSAGE WAS "MISLEADING"

In Concealments Denounced by Montanan in Asking for Vote to Recall Marines.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—Senator Wheeler (Dem.) Montana charged in the Senate this afternoon that the policy of the United States toward Nicaragua had been shaped in the interests of two New York banking houses — Brown Bros. and J. & W. Seligman. The purpose of the resolution, which in 1925 overthrew the legally elected Government, Wheeler declared was to enable these bankers to reap their profits by retaining control of the Nicaraguan National Bank and the Nicaraguan Railroad.

The attack by Wheeler was the most savage and the best documented yet delivered against the action of the American Government in sending marines into Nicaragua. Wheeler called for the revocation of the resolution demanding withdrawal of the Marines, and for an immediate airing of the whole Nicaraguan situation at a public hearing before the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate.

President Misled, Perhaps. Point by point, Wheeler took up what he said were "fair pockets" in the President's message to Congress on Nicaragua. It would be interesting, he said, to know why "misled" information was given that Dr. Juan B. Sacasa was fact of the country by his political enemies was omitted from the President's statement. "This information," said Wheeler, "must be in the possession of the Secretary of State. The message furnishes conclusive proof that the President has been misled in his dealings with Nicaragua. No other more charitable statement could be made concerning such a misapprehension."

Why Diaz Was Put in Power. After reciting the means by which Adolfo Diaz, the President, recognized by the State Department, came into power in Nicaragua, Wheeler said:

"New more than at this very moment, Brown Bros. and J. & W. Seligman, New York, are the big players in the Nicaraguan woodpile. Other American concession seekers and holders—notably the Knox group — La Luz & Low, Anglo-Mexican Co.—have played a big part. But the State Department policy is built around an exploitation of Nicaragua by Brown Bros. and J. & W. Seligman."

The big stake being played for at this moment and on which the future of Nicaragua absolutely depends is the control of 51 per cent of the stock of the National Bank of Nicaragua with the concessions. At heavy cost, under a brief respite between the death of President Diego Chamarro, uncle of Emiliano Chamorro, and the overthrow of the Solerziano — Sacasa Government, Nicaragua recovered control of the bank and the railroad. Now the bankers are determined to regain control of the bank, the railroad and the concessions, which enslave the people. "The purpose of putting Diaz in power was to effect this. Plans, I am told, already are on foot, partly consummated, to put this wicked deal through. Immediately upon election congratulatory caravans were exchanged between him and the New York banker."

A Shifting Policy. Wheeler said he had found it difficult to discuss administration policy in Latin America, owing to the fact that the administration had so often shifted its ground.

"First," he said, "we learned that the Marines were sent to the little republic to protect American lives and property; then they were sent there to protect the paper canal, which we wrung from the people of Nicaragua by questionable means; at the end of the war we were there to protect the Americans from bolshevism."

"When the Robinson resolution was introduced in the Senate, we read in the press that the administration of State would welcome arbitrary

J. FRANK NORRIS FOUND NOT GUILTY IN 40 MINUTES

Apparent Danger Justified
Fort Worth, Tex., Pastor
in Killing D. E. Chippis, Unarmed, Jury Holds.

DECISION REACHED ON FIRST BALLOT

Verdict Applauded Despite Judge's Warning—Evan-

Meeting Tonight.

By F. A. BEHMEYER,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 26.—It took 16 days to try the Rev. J. Frank Norris, fundamentalist preacher, for the killing of Dexter E. Chippis, last July 17. It took the jury, true to Texas tradition and Texas law of self-defense, less than an hour to acquit him of the charge of murder.

It was 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon when W. P. McLean, first judge of the State the arguments that had continued two days. The jury immediately retired. The crowd that filled every inch of space in the courtroom, expecting an early verdict, remained, swarming inside the railing, crowding about the defendant and his family, viewing the models of the Norris office that had been used in the trial, chattering and laughing.

The 6 o'clock bells were ringing when word spread that the jury was coming in. A few minutes before that there had been a kick at the jury room door and the deputy sheriff who asked what was wanted was told that a verdict had been reached.

At that time, however, Judge Hamilton had gone home to dinner, and the defendant had left the courthouse, accompanied by his body guard. The judge came quickly but it was 45 minutes before Norris was brought back to the courtroom. He came in and took a seat with his family. Four Deputy Sheriffs took positions at his back, between him and the audience.

Crowds Applauds. The jury was brought in at 6:45. Judge Hamilton asked if a verdict had been reached and the answer was yes. The verdict was handed up to the bench. The judge, holding it in his hand, warned against a demonstration either in favor of or against the defendant. Any person manifesting approval or disapproval, he said, would be in contempt of court and subject to a fine of $100 and imprisonment for three days. The Sheriff was ordered to arrest anybody who offered to the bench. The verdict was a little flutter of hands clapping, checked instantly by the judge's gavel and the Sheriff's shout for order. The jury was discharged and court adjourned.

There was a rush of friends of the preacher to congratulate him. He was immediately surrounded by a pressing crowd, shaking his hand. He said he had been praying for a verdict of this kind. He was surrounded by a crowd of his admirers, who were shouting and cheering. He was surrounded by a crowd of his admirers, who were shouting and cheering.

KAISER'S SNEER AT BRITISH WAS PROPAGANDA FAKE

English Officer Coined Phrase
"Contemptible Little Army"
to Spur Recruiting.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—An English officer, not the Kaiser, was the author of the phrase England's "contemptible little army." Arthur Ponsonby told the Women's Peace Society last night.

Ponsonby, former British Under-secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, said that "when war is declared, truth is the first casualty. Much capital was made in English recruiting of the Kaiser's alleged remark about Britain's 'contemptible little army.' My investigation has proved that this phrase was deliberately invented by a British army officer and that the Kaiser never said it at all. And yet this bit of propaganda was one of the most powerful forces in gaining enlistments for our military forces in the World War."

This Week, It Is Intimated.

A Chicago syndicate, which for several months has been negotiating for the purchase of Hotel Jefferson, has reported success.

Under the tentative plan being considered by Manager Lyman T. Hay and his associates, and by Francis J. Wade, the banker, the prospective new owners will renovate the present structure and build a 15-story addition to the hotel, which was announced in January, 1926. This addition would contain 300 rooms, increasing the capacity of the hotel to 800 rooms.

The Jefferson was built in 1905 to take care of visitors to the World's Fair and has been controlled by St. Louis interests. Hay is president of the holding company, W. Frank Carter is president, and J. D. Tolman secretary.

SATURDAY TO PASS BEHIND

Phenomenon Will Be Visible
Through Light Glasses if the Day Is Clear. Friday, Saturday and Sunday will be clear, with the moon at dawn Friday.

The bright little star which hangs in the southeastern part of the sky just before dawn will slip behind the lover tip of the crescent moon for an hour and a half Friday morning. If the day is clear the phenomenon may be observed through a pair of light glasses. St. Louis astronomer, St. Louis University.

The star is the ringed planet Saturn. At 2:25 a. m. Friday, Saturn will slowly pass under the tip of the moon, emerging at 7:10 o'clock halfway between the cusps of the moon. It is the first time in 10 years the moon and Saturn have come so close together.

FUGITIVE BIGAMIST AND EMBEZZLER FOUND ON FARM

George E. Avery Arrested at Potosi, Mo., Where He Was Living With One of His Two Wives.

CAPTURE DUE TO TIP TO ST. LOUIS POLICE

Prisoner, Who Fleed Last July, Refuses to Discuss Alleged Shortage of $8000 in His Accounts.

A confidential tip to St. Louis police led to the arrest yesterday of George Edward Avery, alleged bigamist-embellisher, at Potosi, Mo., where he had been living on a farm for two months with his second wife and their small son.

Avery, 37, a middle-aged man, who maintained two households, two wives, two children and two automobiles, before his disappearance July 3 last, had changed his name, his appearance and mode of life, but the tip and the known number of his automobile made the capture a simple matter.

The long-haired, shaggy, unshaven, backwoodsman in a lumberjack shirt, corduroy breeches and leather boots, who snarled at detectives and reporters at Central District Station today, was only vaguely reminiscent of the white-collared clerk who convinced officials of the American Bankers' Machinery Co., 1800 South Kingshighway, that he was a steady, earnest and religious young family man.

Won't Discuss Shortage. To most questions his answers were "That's my business." How much did he steal? "I'm not telling." Was it more than the $8000 figure? "I don't know." He was annoyed. "Maybe it was more, maybe less. Anyway it's all gone, so what of it?"

St. Louis police had been told that Avery had fled to Potosi, Mo., where he had been living with his second wife and their small son. He had been living with his second wife and their small son.

LYMAN J. GAGE, ONCE TREASURY CHIEF, DIES

Member of McKinley's Cabinet
Succumbs at 90 at Point Loma, Cal.

By the Associated Press.
SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 26.—Lyman J. Gage, former Secretary of the Treasury under President McKinley and national known banking authority, died at his Point Loma home at 12:15 o'clock today.

Mr. Gage took to his bed Sunday night with a severe cold that developed into pneumonia. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ada Frances Gage.

bered for having first "popularized" an American war loan. At the beginning of the Spanish-American War in 1898 Congress authorized the issuance of $200,000,000 in bonds bearing 3 per cent interest. Doubt was expressed whether bonds at so low a rate could be sold except at discount.

Mr. Gage was born in De Ruyter, N. Y., June 28, 1836, the son of a farmer. The family removed to Rome, N. Y., in 1848, where

Lyman attended the Rome Academy. At 17 he entered the Oneida (N. Y.) Central Bank as an office boy, serving until 1855 when he went to Chicago and kept books in a planing mill office until 1861. In that year he went with the Merchants' Loan & Trust Co. He became president of the First National Bank of Chicago in 1891. Upon leaving the Cabinet Mr. Gage went to New York, where he became president of the United States Trust Co., serving until 1906 when he retired from active business life.

Mr. Gage was the first president of the board of directors of the World Columbian Exposition in 1893 and for three terms was head of the American Bankers' Association. He was thrice married, the first time in 1864 to Miss Sarah Etheridge of Hastings, Minn., who died in 1874, the second time to

Mrs. Nichols Narrowly Escapes Dangerous Ill-Health

Springfield Woman Suffering from Nervousness, Headaches,
 Dizziness and Backaches, Now Feels Like 16-Year-Old Girl. Thanks to Tanlac

Second a certain point nothing the world can call back result health. But the remarkable of Mrs. Nichols, who
 W. O. O'Neil, St. Louis, Mo., Springfield, Mo., writes: "I suffering in some cases I nervous. She says: 'I became so down that I was always tired and out and drowsy. I to spite of my troubles, the standing, splitting headaches, the pain that seared my back, dizzy spells that were so bad I couldn't in my home-work. I tried desperately to smile and be cheerful but it was impossible.
 If I got in a crowd in a store I would have to look for a time to pull myself together. It must have been my nerves that bothered me. Food caused such severe gas and such pressure against my lungs that I could hardly breathe.
 New working, walking and sleeping no longer helped me. I have gained weight and my stomach is in such bad shape that I can eat and digest anything. I an always hungry. My husband said that I will eat him out of house and home. He can blame Tanlac. This wonderful tonic has given me health and made me feel like a girl of 16.'"

Benefit by Mrs. Nichols' experience. Let this marvelous tonic

ONLY ONE CANCER IN 49 FOUND BY CLINIC HOPELESS

Victim Told of Her Condition, and Others Probably Can Be Cured, Specialists Report.

Only one case that was hopeless was found in 49 cases of cancer under analysis of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, wherein 1140 persons applied for examination when it closed yesterday at the St. Louis Medical Society.

That one case was informed of her condition, physicians in charge announced, in order to prevent unjustified fears among other persons found to have cancer, for all of whom the physicians saw definite hope of cure. There were 11 cases of cancer in advanced stages, four in a stage not tabulated, and 31 early stages. None was considered incurable. Three cases were found of melanoma, malignant type of the disease. These were in such an early stage, however, that physicians said they were curable.

192 Possible Cancers.
 In addition, 192 showed possible evidence of cancer, and nine showed more probable indications.
 There were 115 persons with pre-cancerous conditions, all curable, since they were detected in time, and 222 persons with tumors other than cancer, all likewise amenable to treatment.

A woman who underwent removal of cancer of the breast 18 years ago and another who underwent the operation 19 years ago were examined and found to be still free of cancer. In fact, the only case of recurrence after removal, in 32 persons examined, was in one who had removed a cancerous growth with a paste, a quick remedy.

A few cases of "cancer phobia," or morbid fear of cancer, were found among the 491 persons who had no evidence of cancer or any other tumor whatever. Only 1087 of the 1140 cases were tabulated, because in 45 cases the condition was possible without a period of observation.

To test the value of education and publicity, 81 persons applying were asked what led them to do so.
 Of that number, 51 replied that they had read in newspapers of the importance of early examination.

Voluntary contributions of $4000 for the educational movement of the society, including gifts of $1000 each by Harry F. Knight and Edward Mallinckrodt, Jr., were made at a luncheon yesterday at Hotel Jefferson. Dr. H. H.
 Canning, Taylor of New York, president of the society, mentioned in an address that any community could reduce its cancer mortality by educating the public and seeing that the education was acted upon in prompt examination, and that the physician knew his work and promptly referred cases needing special attention to a capable surgeon.

Dr. Taylor said chances for recovery from cancer diminished 10 per cent with every month treatment was delayed. He urged prompt work of the United States Cancer Bureau that one out of five women and one out of six to eight men over 45 die of cancer. In introducing Dr. Taylor, J. Lindenberg, bank member of the local committee, said that one of every 10 deaths in St. Louis last year was due to cancer.

COURT SETS ASIDE INCREASE IN COMMUTATION FARES
 St. Louis County Protective League
 Wins Suit Against Frisco Railway.

Circuit Judge Tilton today set aside an order of the State Public Service Commission of Aug. 26 increasing commutation fares between St. Louis and 11 suburban points.

The increase, ranging from 15 to 50 per cent on 10 and 25-cent commutation tickets, were imposed by St. Louis County residents who formed the County Protective League, with Lee A. Hall as attorney. In reversing the commission's order, Judge Tilton remanded the matter to the commission for action "not inconsistent" with his decision.

The schedule of increases affected
 Gratiot, Lindenwood, Shrewsbury, Old Orchard, South Webster, Webster Groves, Glendale, Oakley, Oak Lawn, Kirkwood, and Windsor Springs, and did not affect rates to other points reached by the same trains. Judge Tilton held that such increases were discriminatory and illegal.

The Frisco Railway maintained the increases were necessary because of decreased revenue through fewer passengers and because of an increase in operating expenses. The County Protective League replied that the decrease in passenger resulted from inadequate service.

Influenza Kills 200 in Week.
 St. Louis, Jan. 26.—Nearly 200 deaths from influenza have been recorded in London during the last week. In some of the poorer districts people had to stand in line to obtain death certificates. Reports to the Ministry of Health show that 470 persons died from the disease last week in the 10 largest towns outside London. Figure the last few weeks there have been 600 more deaths from influenza than for the corresponding period last year.

Simple Method For Relieving a Bad Cold

New way—amazing, rapid acting

USUALLY the only medicine necessary internally if you have a cold, is a good laxative. That's all.
 Then get a jar of Congesto-Rub at your druggist. Rub it vigorously on your neck and well over your chest. Wrap your chest with a piece of hot flannel. Then place teaspoonful of Congesto-Rub in steaming water, in a glass or bowl, and inhale deeply through a paper cone of its new medicated steam.

Do this tonight and you'll be a different person tomorrow. This

Congesto-Rub

method relieves congestion—fights
 "flu"—bronchitis—combats coming of pneumonia. It is a virtually instant cold relief. Be sure you get genuine Congesto-Rub. Because it fights the causes of bronchitis, pneumonia, "flu," etc., it is now used in place of old-time "rubs" and poultices. Obtain at any drug store.
 Large jar costs only a few cents.

FRANCIS' PARK GIFT IN WILL ALREADY MADE

Sons Feel That 60 Acres Now Being Improved Covers Bequest in Codicil.

Francis Park, a tract of 60.19 acres on Bickelmeier avenue in the southwest section of the city, will constitute the "not more than 100 acres" bequeathed in the city for park purposes by former Gov. Francis Pickens, that this donation fulfilled the purpose their father had announced by Charles M. Pickens, attorney who filed the Francis will after consultation with some of the six sons, who are the principal heirs to the estate.

In a codicil to his will, written March 25, 1916, Gov. Francis said it was his wish to convey not more than 100 acres of the Francis farm to the city for park purposes, and he made such a bequest, subject to the approval of a majority of the principal heirs.

In July, 1917, when Gov. Francis was in Russia as Ambassador, his wife, at his direction, dedicated to the city's use the tract of 60.19 acres. The tract is now undergoing improvements for park purposes. The sons now feel, Attorney Pickens said, that this donation fulfilled the purpose their father had in mind when he wrote the bequest, and that no additional conveyance of land will be necessary. The farm originally comprised 200 acres.

DIVORCE BY PROXY
FOR MUSIC SHOW STAR

Edith Day, Now Appearing in London, Obtains Decree in Minneapolis by Deposition.

In the Associated Press
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 26.
—A divorce by proxy has been granted to Edith Marie Day (Mrs.
J. M. Holme-Sumner), star of "Rose Marie" and other musical shows, now playing in London, England.

Absolute decree was granted in District Court here yesterday after Judge Thomas H. Salmon had been told in a deposition by Miss Day that her actor-husband, Pat Somerset (Patrick Holme-Sumner), beat her, failed to support her and flaunted in their home his affairs with other women. Somerset did not contest the suit.

The deposition was supported by oral testimony of Miss Day's mother, Mrs. F. G. Day of Minneapolis, and of Edward King, Lawrence, N.
Y., friend of both Miss Day and Somerset.

"On the morning following the marriage, I heard him call her
"An American swine" while he was intoxicated," King testified. Somerset gave his wife a black eye on another occasion, King said.

Mrs. Day said Somerset once threw a large picture at his wife.
"Pat was drunk all the time," she added.

Miss Day's deposition, taken in London last month, charged Somerset with habitual drunkenness and with failing to support her.

"I was forever paying his debts,
and paying huge sums to get him out of trouble," the deposition contained. "He never supported me.
When I left him in February 1925 I had only my last week's salary to last me the journey across the ocean and three weeks' rehar-sal of "Rose Marie."

"He hit me violently, or threw me down almost daily. When my friends tried to defend me, he would attack them and accuse them, both men and women, of being my lovers."

Somerset, an English actor, was married to Miss Day at Greenwich, Conn., May 20, 1922.

FREED ON SELF-DEFENSE

PLEA IN BEER PARTY KILLING
J. M. Keegan, 26, Found Not Guilty of Murder in Death of Henry Schlosser.

Joseph M. Keegan, 26 years old, of 4758 Maffitt avenue, was acquitted of second degree murder by a jury in Circuit Judge Pease's court yesterday afternoon, after he had pleaded self-defense in the shooting of Henry Schlosser, 2121
South Fourth street, last Aug. 28.

Testifying in his own defense, Keegan said that Schlosser attacked him with a butcher knife during a fight at a beer party. His testimony was corroborated by an eyewitness, Lester Chartrand, a friend of Keegan's.

Eight persons heard 45-minute talks by Glendy B. Arnold and Oliver T. Remmers at Central Library last night. Arnold supporting and Remmers opposing the passage of the bridge exchange ordinance in substantially its present form.

Arnold said some amendments to the measure, now in the Board of Aldermen, would probably be advisable. Remmers said he was not asking that the bill be killed, "but ye gods," he exclaimed, "it needs a major surgical operation." He cited several lines of amendment.

Arnold, who is counsel for the Chamber of Commerce, and who was counsel for the Citizens' Bridge and Terminal Committee, told of having made a four years' study of the subject before under-taking the work of drawing up the proposed ordinance. Remmers, chairman of the Republican City Committee, is a former attorney for Anheuser-Busch, which owns the Manufacturers' Railway, an interest opposing the bill. He said he got into the bridge discussion as a result of having chosen this theme for a talk at a meeting recently where politics was a forbidden subject and where his other specialty, the safety movement, was considered stale.

Defense of the measure against the charge of fostering monopoly was made by Arnold in a series of pointed questions. He asked the Terminal Association as a crooked corporation, a throttling octopus and a monopolist, and pointed out reasons which have started and thwarted the growth of this great city in its selfish tactics. Its dishonest service and its imposition of an arbitrary rate.

Not a Debate
The argument with the Citizens' Bridge Association, which furnished the audience, the occasion was not a debate. Remmers, who spoke second, took a pronounced line and did not make his speech as a reply to Arnold, since Arnold had no privilege of rebuttal. No questioning of the speakers was permitted. In it, a Liberty chairman, Frank H. Gerhart, was present, invited to speak and others sought recognition but they were not heard, though one man demanded consideration of the 26-year-old issue of the Clarke Avenue bridge.

Arnold began by saying he had never represented the Terminal Association or any railroad, and did not have the matter represent the Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Aldermen not having authorized him to do so. He told of the fight of the Citizens' Bridge Association, a committee and a long series of investigation, resulting in the passage of a 400-page ordinance report and of his own long work in bringing the various interests into agreement on the proposed ordinance.

He said the railroad business was one requiring a lifetime for its thorough understanding, and that he and newspaper editors, however well informed generally, were not competent to discuss railroad problems.

Terminal a Switching Company.
The Terminal Association, he said, was a switching company owned by 14 railroad lines, and 55 per cent of its business is the transferring of through-traffic. The four lines have declared that its rails are open to all railroad lines. Like the street railway company, the gas-electric or telephone company, it is a public utility.

The Truth About "Small Towns"

By R. F. Fallow. (The Stratford, Conn.)

There is a steadily increasing flow of rural population toward the cities. This is a literary phenomenon that has been judged correctly by the attitude of readers so long as the attitude continues to dominate the social mood of our time. The most conspicuous of the phenomena is what we know as "small town" literature. Ever since Gopher Prairie was laid out on the map of Nowhere and the state of Urban Myopia, it has been an easy matter for "clever" writers to attain some degree of literary success by playing up the small town of the Middle West in accordance with the fashionable idea. There is a curious notion abroad to the effect that just the act of living in a city somehow makes one superior to people living in rural surroundings. The notion is one of the pitiful illusions of modern psychology. It is precisely the lower mentality that feels itself endowed with a greater intelligence when moved to the city. It is the rare intelligence that knows itself weakened and diminished thereby. Small-town literature appeals to the urban mood. Its enjoyment is a form of urban narcissism. The truth about human nature does not change at the city limits, and the "small-town mind," which can be so easily put on, is the provincialism that is to be found in both New York and Kokomo. As for the good and bad, the foolish and the wise, the mean and the generous, these are everywhere. The small town of recent American literature is a myth.

There have been a few true pictures of the Middle Western small town, but not one of them has achieved vogue for obvious reasons. Easily the most remarkable of these has been written by a resident of St. Louis, Dr. Emile R. Fallow. "Home Town Sketches" is almost too good to be true. It is composed of over 200 brief but surprisingly vivid pen portraits of outstanding village characters known to the author during his youth in Booneville, Mo. A generation has passed since Dr. Fallow left his old home town, and at that distance in time even the ordinary man is likely to see things clearly and wholely and in their proper relations. Dr. Fallow's judgment is by no means ordinary. Everywhere in his wholly unpretentious work the genuine is revealed. He writes with a pen, but not in blindness, and while the book has the superficial appearance of being fragmentary, little by little the reader realizes that a whole living community is being created before his eyes. Wit and humor abound throughout the book. Profound human kindness sweetens every page. There is never a touch of sentimentalism, no "lopping over" anywhere.

More facts may be ascertained and accurately recorded without love, but the larger truth about human beings is never to be apprehended by the loveless. In that direction lies the secret of Dr. Fallow's conspicuous success.

In his exquisite study of the "Cities of Italy," recently published, Arthur Symonds gives his own translation of a poem by Lorenzo de Medici, otherwise known as "The Magnificent." It was written when the Renaissance was young and when the rediscovery of Greek culture seemed to promise a little rejuvenation of mankind. Here are the first and last two stanzas of Lorenzo's poem:

What a lovely thing this youth is,
If but youth could always stay so!
You'd be happy? Be today so.
In tomorrow's tale no truth is.

Open ears wide, every creature:
None can count upon tomorrow.
Ready, old and young, to sorrow
Present joy from coming sorrow.
Feast our youth and years away so!
You'd be happy? Be today so.
In tomorrow's tale no truth is.

Youths and maidens, every lover,
Long live love and long live Bacchus!

When the song and dance are over,
Though love's burning sweetness
Toll and care shall never track us,
That which must be shall be aye so.
You'd be happy? Be today so.
In tomorrow's tale no truth is.

It is a commonplace nowadays to say that the present popular interest in biography is unparalleled. In this connection it is interesting to remember that 100 years ago this week Sir Walter Scott's publishers, Longmans & Co., contracted for his famous "Life of Napoleon." The advance paid by the publishers for the English rights alone amounted to over $50,000 in that time—a sum that was equivalent in purchasing power to something like $200,000 now. The first and second edition of the book earned for Sir Walter nearly $200,000 (equivalent to over $200,000 now). "I question," wrote Sir Walter in his journal, "if more was ever made by a single work, or by a single author's labors, in the same time. But whether it is deserved or not is the question."

fun-like along a great many lines, and our attitude has changed completely. Now it is one of co-operation with the community. How can we best work together for our mutual benefit? We can give you something, and you can give us something else.

More Time for Culture.
"America is so young a country that it is only recently we have had a leisure class. For that reason we have not been entirely at home in our field. We have not realized the world was ours to explore, and I do not think we have yet recognized all the opportunities that are ours."

Trend in the league toward fuller cultural activity and away from social uplift exclusively was stressed by Mrs. Archie Lee of St. Louis, regional vice president.

"We are young and have had a chance at the cultural side of life," she said. "We are able to give the things our country most needs. We Americans have been so busy pioneering and developing, along other lines that we haven't yet found much time for cultural things, and those are the things the Junior League is most able to give."

Members to Give Play.
"Someone said this morning that it was a cynical sort of thing to expect self-development from social work. Not a bit of it. I think the finest thing about the work is to know that when you give most you get most, that there's a sort of lift in giving yourself, utterly, and that as you become more interested, you become more interesting."

The delegates, who include 34 women from other cities of the North and Middle West, divided today into four groups for round-table discussions. Luncheon was at the Country Club, followed by meetings at four homes on the club grounds. A playlet, written and acted by members, and a puppet play, designed and written by members, will be given tonight when delegates and members will be guests at the home of Mrs. Warren P. McKelvey, 23 Portland place. About 100 were guests of Mrs. Polk last night.

Probationary Term.
They must stand a year or two probation, she explained, just as each candidate for membership in the St. Louis league takes a training course and stands examination before admission. For the league does, it is only for would-be members to mention probationary term.

Delegates from 12 other cities of the North and Middle West told of Junior League Little Theatre and Children's Theaters, hospital and visiting treatment for crippled children, milk stations, concerts and lectures by notables for the general public, visiting teachers and clubbing, poetry contests and occupational therapy. Two spoke with pride of occupational therapy obtained from the St. Louis league, and one remarked, "We want to get everything we have to us, and altogether, we'll have very pleasant time."

Mrs. Anderson, sketching particular innovations in league activities, deprecated "of course, those girls in New York and others" who followed "the first Lady Bountiful attitude. We'll be something, we'll be great, we'll be, and altogether, we'll have very pleasant time."

Social Items

Of much interest in St. Louis is the wedding tonight in St. Paul, Minn., of Miss Alberta Hutchins, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Hutchins, and Paul Augustus Schaffly, son of Mr. and Mrs. August A. Schaffly, of 4442 Lindell boulevard, which will take place at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. Only relatives and a few friends will attend the ceremony, which will be followed by a large reception for additional guests.

The house will be decorated with Easter lilies, and during the service will be lighted by candle light. The Rev. Father Leo V. Loyden of St. Louis's Catholic Church will officiate.

Dandruff Soon Destroys the Hair

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to destroy it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

KREISLER DELIGHTS A LARGE AUDIENCE

Master of the Violin Heard in Concert of His Unfailing High Quality.

THE unfailing high quality of everything that pertains to Fritz Kreisler's art makes one of his concerts like another so far as his playing which differentiates him so perceptibly from the host of Michas, Jaschas and Sacchas that room through the land, has no literary equivalent and any attempt to accurately describe such a phenomenon is likely to trail off into nonsense. Yet this differentiation has a real and measurable significance to his hearers. They know very well that there's no one like Fritz because he always communicates to them an emotional excitement so intense as to be almost painful.

For this and other reasons Mr. Kreisler's concert at the Odeon last night was heard by the usual capacity audience. His program was constructed too, in much the usual way. Opening with a Mozart Sonata—the B Flat major—his second section was made up of Bach's G minor adagio and fugue and Corelli's La Folia, which consisted of a theme with variations. The third group was made up of lighter numbers including two of the many transcriptions made by himself with which he has expanded—for his own purposes at any rate—the none too ample literature of the violin.

The repose and sanity of Kreisler's style together with the marvellous evenness of texture in his tone makes him the ideal medium through which to feel the genial tranquillity of Mozart. Something invariably disappears from Mozart when he is heard in the idiom of the large ensemble, however transparent it may be.

Of the shorter numbers Kreisler's own arrangement of Loton's land, which was more like Debussy himself as represented in the next number on the same program, En Bateau—and the Lehar-Kreisler Praxxata were particularly pleasing to the audience.

It is a further tribute to the immortal Fritz that he could so ennobly and spiritualize the Lehar number. In the hands of a lesser artist, its obvious melodies would make it sound like the rather naive music hall number that it really is.

As encores, Mr. Kreisler played De Falla's Chanson Populaire, the Brahms-Johann Hungarian Dance and his own Caprice Viennois.

That paragon of accompanists, Carl Lamson, was at the piano as usual.

Tissue-thin, transparent diamonds
they have saved America a billion dollars

SYMBOL of value—the diamond-shaped Lux flakes! Symbol of purity—their transparency!

Each year from the diamond mines of the world come thousands of gems worth fifty million dollars. Yet department stores say truly: In the last ten years Lux diamonds have saved American women twenty times that sum—probably more than a billion dollars.

Millions of silk stockings and sheer lingerie saved from dangerous alkali and hard rubbing—for, of course, in these tissue-thin transparent Lux diamonds there can be no alkali! Miles of tub silks kept from yellowing! Thousands upon thousands of woollens saved from shrinking! In such ways Lux has piled up its savings to American women.

Today women who first found Lux perfect for fabrics know that it frees hands from the "dishpan look." No longer does dishwashing make their hands red and rough. And one teaspoonful is plenty.

Different—diamond-precious—modern washing magic.

In every country of the world Lux is sold only in the familiar Lux packages—for your protection! Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Massachusetts.

$43,000 NOTE SALE CONTRACT IN ALLENTON BANK

County Prosecutor Trying to Learn Significance of Unusual Agreement With George J. Breaker.

A contract concerning $43,000 worth of notes between George J. Breaker, former St. Louis attorney and a director and largest stockholder of the closed State Bank of Alton, and the officials of the bank as individuals, is being investigated by Prosecuting Attorney Mueller of St. Louis County, who seeks to learn the significance of the document.

The State Finance Department officials at Jefferson City, who received a copy of the contract yesterday, together with the examination of the bank's condition as of the last day of its business, Jan. 10, have not been able to explain the purpose of the contract for the reason for its unusual terms.

Breaker, the cashier has declared, were a contributing factor in closing of the bank, but a report that these loans aggregated about $30,000 has not been confirmed.

The only outstanding loans to Breaker shown in the inventory are on a demand note for $1000 dated July 11, 1925, and a similar note for $100, dated Dec. 9, 1925. His deposit in the bank when it closed was $1,000. He owned 17 of the 100 shares of bank stock.

Nature of the Contract.
The contract was dated June 17, 1926, and bears the purported signature of Breaker, for the bank, and other directors and the cashier. It is an agreement for the purchase by Breaker from the bank of 10 notes for a total of $43,000, for which he agreed to pay the equivalent amount in first deeds of trust on lots he owned in Clover Hill subdivision, Glendale. These deeds were not to exceed half the appraised value of the land.

Particular performance of a guarantee by Breaker that the mortgage would be paid promptly was to be secured by his plugging and hypothecating the other parties to the contract the notes he was buying.

After delivery of the subdivision mortgages, it was agreed Breaker would deliver additional deeds of trust on other lots he owned in the same section.

It was further agreed that the notes, when given back by Breaker to secure performance of his guarantee, and the copy of this contract delivered to the group of directors shall be deposited in some safe place other than on or about the premises of the State Bank of Alton, and the bank shall not be deemed to have any interest in this contract, which is of a personal character between the parties.

An Unusual Clause.
Robert E. Wenger, president and a director of the bank, and Fred W. Reiter, the cashier, both parties to the contract, were designated in it as agents of their associates.

Among the notes involved in the purchase contract, it was reported to the State Finance Department, were a group aggregating $17,500, which had been given to the bank by Breaker in July, 1926, and two for a total of $43,000, which had been given to the bank by the St. Louis State Co., of which Breaker was president. The other notes were given by various borrowers.

As told exclusively in the Post-Dispatch yesterday, officials of the bank are trying to determine whether the Free Bank, Lewis and Drainage District had any tangible existence, in view of the fact that Breaker, representing himself as attorney for the district, deposited the proceeds, $10,000, in his personal account in the bank. The warrants were in effect promissory notes due on or before June 1, 1926.

Incorporated as Business.
The Post-Dispatch learned today that the drainage district was incorporated like a business concern, rather than through decree of Circuit Court, and the necessary papers were filed with the County Recorder June 1, 1926. If adequate funds were given to the district, it was to be used for the purpose of making a substitution of paper to remove the warrants, since the bank apparently was objecting to the warrants. It is known that Breaker, on July 1, 1926, executed seven deeds of trust on Clover Hill lots, for $7,500, in favor of President Wenger. Two of these were first deeds of trust and the rest second. On June 10, 1926, Breaker had given the deeds of trust for a total of $13,000 on other lots in Clover Hill to one George W. Trinn.

The prosecutor's investigation is expected to show what connection, if any, there was between the contract, the mortgages given Wenger and Trinn, and the drainage district warrants. Prosecuting Attorney Mueller has refused to talk about the bank's affairs. Breaker has gone East.

The examiners' inventory gave resources of the bank as $68,594.72, including $58,042.44 loans and discounts, $4875.45 cash, $2887.50 bonds, the bank property and minor items. Liabilities were $12,500 capital, $2500 surplus, $51,104.53 deposits and minor items.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaks, just an application of two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold. Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for only 75 cents, all ready for use.

It is called "Webb's" Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and luster of your hair.

Everybody uses "Webb's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it deters so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

Bad Stomach For Years, Now Has New One

"My stomach was bad and I suffered terribly from indigestion. I began to take Adierika and feel like a new person. My bowels and stomach have improved wonderfully."

E. Huber.

Unlike most medicines, Adierika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowels, giving the intestines a REAL cleansing and bringing out old poisonous matter you never thought was in your system. Even if bowels move more daily, you will be surprised how much more Adierika brings out which may have been causing all your trouble. In slight disorders, like occasional constipation, GAS bloating, indigestion or sick headache, ONE spoonful always brings relief.

Adierika is a compound of the best saline intestinal cleanser with ginger, bismuth, cascara and other gas-expelling and detergent elements. It is excellent for Intestinal Stasis, a drug disease, in St. Louis at Wolf Wilson Drug Stores, Johnson Bros. Drug Co.

No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adierika will surprise you. As head of the famous diuretic stimulant and Holland's National Remedy since 1896. Guaranteed.

WHY SUFFER AGONY?

Why endure those frequent headaches, pains in the back, nervousness and that feeling of utter exhaustion? They are the symptoms of disordered kidneys. Don't let the condition become chronic, and develop into something so serious as to get beyond relief. If you will attend to your kidneys at once, you will save years of suffering. Drink lots of water and try Gold Medal Haarlem oil capsules (the original and genuine) regularly.

The world famous diuretic stimulant and Holland's National Remedy since 1896. Guaranteed.

GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE 25-YEAR DISPUTE ENDS

Legislation Advocated by Physicians Exempts Scientists for the First Time.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 26.—The 25-year conflict between medical practitioners of Missouri and adherents of Christian Science is ended. In legislation advocated by the Missouri Medical Society at the present session of the Legislature, there is for the first time in this State a specific provision exempting Christian Scientists from the laws governing the practice of medicine and the healing of the sick and afflicted.

At past sessions of the Legislature, virtually every medical bill introduced has had the active opposition of the scientists because the legislation asked for could be construed as affecting the practice of Christian Science, but this time the doctors voluntarily placed the exemption in their bill, which seeks to raise the standard of educational requirements of applicants for licenses to practice medicine.

They also exempted osteopaths, but did not exempt chiropractic practitioners, who have before the Legislature a measure to create a State Board of Chiropractic Examiners, and specifically stating that chiropractic shall not be considered the practice of medicine or surgery.

As the measure stands, the Christian Scientists have no objection to it, and the doctors have no legislative objection to Christian Science.

The doctors are asking that the required course of study in medical colleges shall be more strict and that there be a law providing for reciprocity with states having educational requirements as high as those of Missouri.

Under the existing law, a medical college student who has graduated from a reputable school having a course of study of four years may take the State examination for a license to practice medicine. Prior the proposed act the State Board of Health would not examine an applicant unless it found that the school from which the applicant had graduated had not enforced the requirement for a four-year course of study.

This is to give a condition said to exist in one college in the State. It has a four-year course of study, but, according to statements by physicians introduced in the bill, does not in all cases require the student to take the full course.

The osteopathic physicians also have a bill before the Legislature to raise the educational requirements of applicants for licenses to practice osteopathy, their measure seeking to require a full four-year course of study instead of the three years under the present law.

Milk's Emulsion Made Life a Joy. No Constipation or Stomach Trouble.

"I had outburst of the stomach and head for three years. My stomach was so bad that every time I ate anything, such as fruit or pastry, the burning hot water would run out of my mouth. I took a laxative every night. I was taking Milk's Emulsion for months. I have now taken ten bottles and have gained 100 pounds. All my friends remark how fine I am looking, and I feel a pleasure to live again, without stomach trouble."—Her Becker, Miami, Ohio.

Milk's Emulsion restores healthy, natural, bowel action, doing away with all needless pain and distress. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food, thus building flesh and strength, which are Nature's only aids in conquering germs and repairing the effects of wasting diseases.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon, like ice cream. Wonderful for weak, sickly children.

No matter how severe your case, you are urged to try Milk's Emulsion. If not satisfied with results, your money will be promptly refunded. Three dollar and $1.20 per bottle. Sold by druggists everywhere.

CLAIMS SOLE TITLE TO PORO COLLEGE

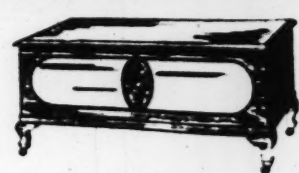

Mrs. Anna Turnbo-Malone Answers Husband's Suit for Receivership.

Mrs. Anna M. Pope Turnbo-Malone, one of the few millionaires Negroes of the country, today declared herself sole owner of Poro college, 4201 St. Ferdinand avenue, in an answer to the receivership suit filed by her husband, Aaron Malone, who has sued for divorce also.

Mrs. Malone denied she had ever recognized her husband as "half owner of the concern, which makes cosmetics and toilet goods for Negroes, and asserted the business was flourishing and successful, due solely to her efforts before she met him in 1914.

Conrad Patton, temporary receiver under Malone's suit, announced yesterday to Judge Hartman that Mrs. Malone had barred him from a certain room at the college. Her attorney, Daniel N. Kirby, explained that the room contained formulas and materials used in the client in secret process and that her business would be endangered if they became known to another.

Judge Hartman ruled that Patton could enter the room to inventory the contents, but cautioned him that raw materials and formulas in the room should not be disclosed in his inventory. Patton there will be a hearing to determine whether the receivership shall be made permanent.

FEWER POLICE ON EACH SHIFT THAN
IN '07, GERK SAYS

Great Increase in Work
Chief's Reason for Asking Legislature to Add 364 Men to Force.

Statistics showing a stupendous increase in the work of the St. Louis police force have been compiled by Chief of Police Gerik in support of a bill to be introduced in the Missouri Legislature, asking for the addition of 364 policemen and policewomen to the department.
Mayor Miller and Comptroller Noble have indicated opposition to the bill, saying it would add $750,000 a year to the police payroll and because, they say, St. Louis has as many policemen in proportion to population as other cities.
The bill proposes to add to the force 500 patrolmen and probationary patrolmen, six police-women and probationary police-women, 35 sergeants, 15 lieutenants, four captains and four majors.

Smaller Than in 1907.
Chief Gerik has taken the year ending April 30, 1907, for comparison with present conditions. For that year, he reports, there were 1100 patrolmen and probationaries, or 266 for each of two 12-hour shifts. The Legislature that year added 300 men to the force, but divided them into three 8-hour shifts, so that the working strength of each shift was 466 plus or 33 fewer than before. Since 1907 150 patrolmen have been added so that now there are 1250—216 plus for each shift, or 50 fewer than in 1907.

Other comparisons noted by Chief Gerik:
Number of arrests made in 1907,
29,777; in 1926, 123,456.
Motor vehicle licenses issued in 1907, 1000; in 1926, 100,000.
Patrolmen assigned to traffic duty in 1907, 28; in 1926, 180.
Arrests reported in 1907, 6427;
in 1926, 20,046. Last figure does not include minor accidents, as police no longer report them.

Number of public and paroled prisoners in 1907, 100; in 1926, 1000.
Number of pupils in 1907, 100,000;
in 1926, 100,000.
Chief Gerik points out that traffic conditions make it necessary to take the equivalent of 40 men away from other duties daily in order to protect school children from injury.
In 1907 there were 1200 miles of improved streets and others. In 1926, there were 1400 miles, the difference representing so many miles to be patrolled. Most of the worst spots where accidents within the city limits in 1907 and leading to attention have been eliminated by modern building methods. Chief Gerik, mentioning for example, that the west end of Union boulevard, especially near west and southwest, was largely unimproved in 1907.

From 1907 to 1926, population, 175,
100,000; in 1926, 200,000.
100,000 living persons for construction of new buildings, extra material to cost $400,000,000, were required to build.

350 Men for 350 Beasts.
St. Louis is divided into 10 police districts and 200 beats. The present personnel after deduction of men for special duty, traffic duty, and work at headquarters and the Sergeant's Bureau, leaves 1000 men to patrol beats of 250 each on an 8-hour shift to patrol 240 beats.
This shortage of 21 men on beats is increased daily by 70 on regulations 25 on each beat, 175 on age figure) $2, on special assignments from beat and on estimated number, who leave their beats to appear in court.

Chief Gerik gives evidence as the population in 1907, 100,000 as the estimated population in 1926, and introduced would authorize police-women as the estimated daily women to make arrests.

Constipation! How to Keep Bowels Regular

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated men, women, children, and particularly old folks, had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy

EPISCOPALIANS OPEN 89TH ANNUAL MEETING

Bishop Johnson Pays Tribute in Message to Members Who Recently Died.

Bishop Frederick F. Johnson, in opening the eighty-ninth annual diocesan convention of the Episcopal Church in Christ Church Cathedral yesterday, reminded those attending of the nineteenth anniversary of the birth of the late Bishop Daniel Sylvester Tuttle, which is today. Bids are being asked, he said, for the construction of the Bishop Tuttle Memorial, a church and community center structure which will adjoin Christ Church Cathedral.

Bishop Johnson, in his annual message, paid tribute to men and women prominent in the work of the diocese who have died since the last convention. He mentioned in this connection Dr. George S. Tuttle, William Bagnell, Mrs. E. C. Simmons, Mrs. George Castellan, Mrs. Sarah Davis, the mother of Dean Carroll M. Davis; and the Rev. James H. Cloud, who was noted for his work among the deaf and dumb.

Those who assisted Bishop Johnson at the service included the Rev. C. E. Remick, the Rev. Roy Rawson, the Rev. W. G. Hawson, the Rev. W. G. Harter, the Rev. David Combs and the Rev. Thomas L. Small. Following the service, a business meeting was held at which Vincent L. Price was re-elected treasurer of the diocese and Archdeacon H. H. Marden and F. G. Williamson were chosen diocesan delegates to the Provincial Synod. The convention continues today.

FLYERS FEED STRANDED MEN ON TUG HELD IN GRIP OF ICE

By the Associated Press.
MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Jan. 25.—At the mercy of the winds and waves of Lake Michigan, three fishermen marooned on the tiny tug Imperial as she lay in the grip of a huge drifting ice field, 10 miles off Michigan City, turned to the skies today for succor.

The sheet of ice holding the tug fast was surrounded by open water and beyond that ice packed so close that the men from reaching shore and making them dependent on airplanes for food and other supplies. Even with aircraft in contact, there was no certainty as to the fate of the Imperial left for long in the midst of the shifting ice. The trio had been without food since Sunday, when the tug was sighted at dusk yesterday by an airplane pilot, who swooped down to drop bags of food, fuel and clothing. The airmen were able to hold brief conversation with the trio, Frank Jentzen, Harvey Fryer, who are married, and Joe Van Kirk, and assured them of further aid.

So Sweet and Clean Inside!
No Offensive Vapors
From the Pores

Once a person realizes the wonderful properties in cascara, no other laxative in the market would ever be considered.

It's no trick to "clean out the bowels." Loosens of things will do that. But a little natural cascara purifies the system clear through. Cleanses even the pores of your skin. Renders perspiration as inoffensive as so much dew! The old-fashioned way was "salts." They get action, but they take the mucous membrane along with the waste matter! Mineral oils are gentler, but they leave the bowels with a film of poisons for the blood to carry off through the pores. But when you cascade the system, you get rid of all the poisons by natural muscular action of the bowels.

If you have the habit of taking medicine for constipation, or even for auto-intoxication, stop it. For a candy cascara is a delightful form in which to take cascara; children love them, and the taste tempts most grown-ups to have "more."

And what a comfort to know you are in that clean, wholesome condition that does away with any need of deodorants, even in warmest weather! Try a cascara tonight—see how you feel next day, and for days after! With the skin fresh and fragrant. All druggists, 10c and 5c.

JOHN PESEK DEFEATS JIM LONDOS AFTER FOUR-HOUR STRUGGLE ON MAT

Nebraskan Wins First and Third Falls With Scissors; 10,000 Fans View Contest

Pecek Uses Headlocks to Gain the Second Fall — Men Wrestle Carefully Most of the Time — Majority of Spectators Remain to Finish.

By John E. Wray,
Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

John Pecek of Ravenna, Neb., sometime policeman and the stranger news wrestling "circus" and now leading candidate for the catch-as-catch-can title, defended almost weekly by Joe Stecher, gave 10,000 wrestling fans all the thrills that go with a real title match, at the Coliseum last night.

In a contest that lasted only 26 seconds of four full hours, actual wrestling time to complete, Pecek defeated Jimmy London, Greek heavyweight, two out of three falls in a contest that was at times slow and careful and at other moments filled with all the elements of spectacular exhibitions—flying, snarling, headlocks, growls and anguished face-making.

Pecek won the first and third falls in almost the same manner, using a head scissors and bar-arm hold to pin his man, after himself suffering a series of leaping headlocks by London.

The splendidly formed London won the second fall, the longest of the fray, with a series of reverse headlocks, Pecek succumbing after the sixth had apparently taken all his stamina from him.

The crowd for the most part waited from the starting of the first bout at 8:30 o'clock to the conclusion of the fourth fall at about 3:15 a. m., with good grace and few catcalls. Cock-roosting by spectators was the principal indoor sport after 2 o'clock, but the grapple struggle along, however, to the praise of blarney, vainly weakening as time went on.

Wives Seek Missing Husbands.
Out in the office a continual ringing of the phone was kept up by worried wives of tired business men who clung to their husbands, waiting for the final outcome, while their superior halves worried and wondered at home.

As far as the casual eye could determine, the event was fought on its merits, although something of the old exhibition stuff crept into the match at times. London, who does pulled his flying leaps and flying mare. For the most part the men appeared to be carefully refraining from unnecessary risks.

Mid-winter wrestling styles in the feature event ran to Japanese winlocks and grapevines used largely with headlocks by London, and the double wrist hold, the "figure four" and the bar-arm hold, the latter being the most torturing grips employed by Pecek.

Almost none of the type of holds and Hacksenbush were used except the scissors. There were no hammer locks, no crotch-and-half-holds.

Referee Sharpe Stops Bout to Warn Wrestlers Against Rough House Stuff

The match was not without its pugilistic side and on three occasions during the contest, Referee Sharpe had to warn the contestants that they were not operating under Marquis of Queensberry, but under wrestling rules.

Pecek's falling into the sanctuary of the ropes when apparently in distress from London's grips, saved him much punishment, but gained him plenty of catcalls.

London Early Aggressor.
The first fall saw the men begin very cautiously. The gallery inquired, from time to time, when the show would begin. London was the early aggressor, but before long Pecek began to torture the Greek with head and body scissors. "Figure four" holds and arm locks. Now and then he too, tried the Lewis type of headlock, but he had no great success with it.

For almost a half hour and a half the balance wavered, both men breaking punishing holds many times. After about one hour and 25 minutes London broke into the usual preliminary. Future that seems necessary to the headlock specialist—a tury put on by Ed Lewis first and copied by all the catch-as-catch-can exhibitors.

In succession he made flying leaps to Pecek's head and bore him to the floor three times. Each time Pecek shook off his foe and rose. London tried a fourth flying tackle, but Pecek the time stopped him. London crashed heavily to the canvas, where Pecek leaped on him like a catamount, sawing a head scissors on his foe and made it good with a bar-arm lock. London wriggled violently, but in vain. He was down in 1 hour, 27 minutes and 57 seconds. The time was 1 hour, 42 minutes and 29 seconds.

The Bout Becomes Rough.
The second fall saw both men well strong and into this period was injected much of the stuff that savored of exhibition. The flying mare and rough house stuffs which drew a warning from the referee, regarded the spectators who were growing restless because of the slow and careful earnestness of the show.

The struggle wore on past the hour and one-half mark, before outward signs that the end was near began to develop. As usual these took the form of acute headlocking, with Pecek starting it.

Pecek is not at his best here, but in four times he apparently

Pesek Challenged To Finish Match By Jack Sherry

J. C. MARSH, for a decade manager of Marin Plesch, who recently deserted him to join Billy Randow's mat "trust," today issued a challenge to John Pecek, winner of last night's match, on behalf of his new star, Jack Sherry.

Marsh's letter, which reached him before last night's match was decided, asks to meet the winner of the London-Pesek contest. In part Marsh writes:

"On numerous occasions I have challenged both of these men, but have never been able to book up with them. They always slip-step my challenges. London has shown that he wanted none of Sherry's game. Pecek, I believe, would accept if allowed to do so. But the winner is the one we want. I am ready to wrestle to a finish, winner-take-all, or any other way."

J. C. MARSH.

London grips, no single or double nelsons and even the toe-hold was only casually employed.

London, either for spectacular purposes or because he thought worth while, tried the old Gracioso Roman hold, the flying mare, repeatedly, but Pecek effectively blocked its use after the first try or two.

Crowd Favors Pecek.
The match was seemingly won by the better man, although the pair were extremely well-matched. If the aggressive and defensive tactics of the event are tabbed up. On the whole, however, Pecek showed more alertness, more speed of hand and foot, plenty of guile and the "figure four" and the bar-arm hold, the latter being the most torturing grips employed by Pecek.

Almost none of the type of holds and Hacksenbush were used except the scissors. There were no hammer locks, no crotch-and-half-holds.

Less Crying and More Hard Play Harvard's Need

That Is Opinion of Mahan, 1916 Captain, in Defending Princeton Coach.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—"If Harvard would do less crying and more hard playing, it would not only win more football games but would occupy the place in the world of sportsmen it deserves."

Such is the opinion of Eddie Mahan, brilliant Harvard halfback and captain of the Crimson eleven in 1916, as expressed in an interview in the New York Sun yesterday. Mahan upheld Bill Roper, Princeton coach, as a teacher of "clean, hard football."

Expressing regret for the article in Liberty by Wynant Hubbard, accusing Princeton of "dirty football," Mahan said he felt the Harvard players cited by Hubbard as having been injured by unfair tactics should either deny the accusations or stand as the "real protagonists."

Should Give Tigers Benefits.
"If there is any doubt in their minds they should be sportsmen enough to give Princeton the benefit of the doubt," Mahan was quoted.

He asserted he had seen all the Harvard-Princeton games of the last five years and did not believe they were played to protect or to "cover up" for anything.

"Roper, I am convinced," Mahan said, "teaches clean, hard football. I admire and respect him. He occupies at Princeton the same position that I occupied at Harvard. He is the only Princeton player specifically accused. He has the right to demand that the charges of 'dirty football' be proved or retracted publicly. I saw the play in question and recall it as a clean, hard tackle."

Muller Tackled Fairly.
"I also saw Muller, whose name was supposed to have been denied by a sportswriter, tackled on the game of 1925. My impression is that he too was tackled fairly. It may be true that more Harvard than Princeton men were injured in the game, but it is not surprising. Men of the type of Treat, Kerk, Dickinson, McMillan and O'Neil are built of tougher fiber than the Harvard players of recent years. They are better fitted to stand the game."

Charges Groundless.
PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 26.—Charges of "dirty football" brought against Princeton by Wynant Hubbard, former Harvard star, in a magazine article, are groundless, in the opinion of Ed McMillan, Princeton football captain in 1925.

The Princeton team, which was defeated by a series of matches with American teams, defeated the New York second team by the same score in a practice match the previous day.

The matches yesterday were featured by the brilliant victory of Capt. Ed McMillan, captain of Princeton, over W. Palmer O'Neil, American title holder, Jan. 25-26, 1926.

Heavy Champions Should Box Four Times Each Year

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Heavyweight champions should fight at least four times a year if they expect to defend successfully their crowns against outstanding rivals, in the opinion of William Muldoon, 31-year-old member of the State Athletic Commission and former trainer of John L. Sullivan.

"Lack of work rather than overwork has been the downfall of every heavyweight champion in the past 10 years," said the veteran expert.

"It looks to me as if Gene Tunney was taking himself as hard as Jack Dempsey did through inactivity. Fighting once a year for a heavyweight champion is not enough."

Muldoon expressed the view that the present crop of heavyweight champions is the best in the history of the game.

Special Tenpin Match.
A special bowling match of three games, total pins to count, with Mrs. Jim Wilson, ex-posing C. Mahan, a member of the Max Spaulding team, will be held on the Carondelet alleys Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Wilson will receive no handicap.

Managers Howley and Huggins to Confer in South

Deal Between Browns and Yankees May Be Completed on Training Trip.

There is still a possibility that a trade involving the Browns and the Yankees will be made before the opening of the 1927 season. It was stated this morning by Business Manager Bill Friel of the St. Louis club.

Dispatches from New York carried the report that a deal involving four players, supposedly Joe Judge and Charlie Duce of the Browns and Sam Jones and Walter Rife of the Yankees, was on the way.

Asked if the Browns were considering a trade, Friel said:

"We have been considering one all winter, but I do not expect anything definite until Managers Howley and Huggins get together in Florida."

Howley plans to fly for his departure for the South "almost any day."

Joe Judge and Milton Garmon, pitchers, are expected visitors at the Browns' office, but whether or not they will sign 1927 contracts could not be learned.

Nunge is a heavyweight and fought on the coast under the name of the Los Angeles A. A. He was a member of the World-champion boxing team as well as the representative team as champion of the Western A. A.

He first started in the world series by defeating the Tankeas, 4 to 0. He began the final game and went well until the seventh inning.

When his finger split from throwing too many knuckle balls and a tangle went to his rescue and saved the game which gave the Cardinals the world's championship.

Nunge is 35 years old. Braden said today that while

RICKARD EXPECTS A $200,000 GATE FOR ELIMINATION BATTLE
NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—The record for receipts at an indoor boxing match in New York is due to be broken when Jim Maloney of Boston and Jack Delaney, light heavyweight champion, clash in Madison Square Garden Feb. 18.

With a "top" charge of $20 for roundhouse seats, allowed by the Boxing Commission yesterday, Tex Rickard expects the receipts will exceed $200,000.

Delaney and Paul Berlenbach, a light heavyweight championship match at the Garden more than a year ago, drew $152,945 to the box office.

Not three pounds overweight at now, Tunney declared "I am 190 to an ounce and, if the fight was made, I could enter the ring within four weeks fit and ready to fight as well as ever I was."

He said he was "never out of condition" and that he had been at least 120,000 people who saw that was wrong. However, Tunney goes for Tunney. His manager day is just a recital of what he believed man will do.

"I'm up by 7 o'clock and go through a series of calisthenics," he declared. "After breakfast, I go for a long walk sometimes interspersed with occasional sprints. I appear in four or five times a day, at which my sparring partner serves to keep my eye trim."

Plans Exhibition and Theatrical Tour of Europe to Last Until Early Part of June.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—Prominent American who will sail for Europe this summer are the champion of the Levantine and Joseph Tunney, the well-known heavyweight champion. The latter said today that he is seriously considering offers for a theatrical and exhibition tour of Europe, England and France and is enamored of the idea that he will leave for the West. This is by tracking the wild and unbridled "buck" to the housewife's safe and claiming it for his own.

World Return to June. The return of March will bring the season: so Tunney would like to see the world. His rather sketchy plans at this immature moment for him to leave for abroad April and return in June at which juncture it is expected to be a fullflower time in pugilism.

Tunney will begin active training then for the defense of his belt against the accepted challenger and the party who thinks he can't be "right" for the big moment has a frayed cuff in his family.

Not three pounds overweight at now, Tunney declared "I am 190 to an ounce and, if the fight was made, I could enter the ring within four weeks fit and ready to fight as well as ever I was."

TEN OFFICIALS REFUSE TO DISCUSS NEW SCHEDULE PLAN
Associated Press. CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—Members of the "Big Six" of the Western Conference invited to meet here Friday Saturday to discuss the new situation in the Big Ten, had last night to discuss their plans for a "round robin" schedule, with the exception of one Little, athletic director of University of Wisconsin.

He expressed a doubt that the "round robin" schedule would even be discussed, and advanced a discussion of equality of competition, particular reference to credit, athletic requirements and financial watchfulness against prostration.

The principal problems submitted to the conference by the Big Ten representatives, by Mr. L. Griffith, Big Ten commissioner, in calling the conference.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Woman and Sportsmanship.

SOME time ago Dr. Herluf G. Lund of St. Louis, whose experience with athletes and athletes is long and wide, wrote an article for the Post-Dispatch in which he said that women athletes would never rank with men because they "lacked the true competitive temperament."

Now comes Mrs. Mollie Hurst, Mallory, present American tennis champion, and corroborates this view. She is quoted as follows in an interview obtained in Florida:

"Women are not suited to tennis. They are not real creatures. They can't make their feelings. Tennis is not fast competition and is not suited to the feminine temperament. When I lose, I am furious. I cover it up when I can, but I don't like it one bit. In America you've got to be a good sportsman. You must pretend to have the sporting attitude, if you haven't. But women won't. They can't be good losers."

That view doesn't seem to fit in with Helen Wills. So far as has appeared accounts of her playing, Miss Wills has always been just as good a loser as a winner.

In any case, if man has the proper sporting attitude, it is probable that he has been cultivating it through centuries of competition. Women, in athletics, is barely out of the cocoon. Give her a chance to develop and it will arrive. A few centuries of defeat will make her a good loser.

Boloney.
MAKE MIGHTY E. now in his mid-thirties, has experienced a change. From an ardent disciple of the safety-first plan, he has become a knout king.

Or so the propaganda from New York goes. The appearance merchants from the Atlantic seaboard ask us to believe that old dog overnight has mastered new tricks. They want us to believe that the nature which once manifested itself by grabbing gloves, ported. If that is the case, will another problem is to be faced, the men would then be free agents under the ten-year rule.

It seems now that if the American League had not wanted the players because of "broken" Leonard's revelation, it would have been better policy in the first place to have released him outright.

Landis' Decision In Cobb-Speaker Case, Tomorrow

Complete Exoneration of Stars Expected — Commissioner to Go Into Details.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker will know their fate tomorrow. Judge Kenneth Mountain Landis announced today he would decide Thursday as to the status of the former Detroit and Cleveland American League club managers. Whether the shadow cast on the records of the peerless diamond pair by a story told the baseball war by Dutch Leonard, former pitcher, "that Ty and Tris were involved in an alleged 'throw' game in 1919," is to be lifted will be finally determined by Landis. Judge Landis stated a formal announcement covering the cases of the two accused stars will be made by him.

To Go Into Details.
It is expected the commissioner will go into the case in detail and a statement covering the entire situation, which ultimately led to the retirement of Ban Johnson as president of the American League, will be issued.

Landis, however, is not expected to go into the statement, later denied, of Johnson, that Cobb and Speaker, were "let out because of incompetency" and not as an aftermath of Leonard's tale.

Johnson's statement brought Landis' fire, as it indicated he was not receiving the full support of the American League head, and Landis' demand for a "showdown" in the Cobb-Speaker affair brought Johnson's retirement.

This retirement, however, ended the long-waged Landis-Johnson war and Landis is hardly expected to refer to Johnson in his statement being ready to graciously accept his victory without comment.

Complete exoneration for Cobb and Speaker and repudiation of Leonard's entire story is expected.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membrane and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agents for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membrane and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

FIRE RECALLS HISTORY OF TEMPLE BUILDING

Many Noted Lawyers and Famous Stage Stars Were There in 57 Years.

When flames threatened to destroy the old five-story Temple building on the northwest corner of Broadway and Walnut street, at noon yesterday, older citizens recalled the days when it was the biggest office building in St. Louis, with a concert hall where recitals, amateur plays, and popular road shows were presented. Officials of the Title Guaranty Trust Co. digging into their records, found the site originally belonged to Pierre Chouteau, one of the founders of St. Louis. In 1840 the Chouteaus sold it to the Second Presbyterian congregation, which built a church there, remaining through 1867.

A letter dated June 18, 1868, signed David Nicholson, dealer in "wholesale groceries, teas, spices and wines," 12 North Sixth street, is in the file, relating that he had bought the church site and planned to build a $25,000 office building there. "I haven't seen the deed," he remarked, "but I expect it is full of crotchets."

Erected in 1869, the Temple Building was erected as an office building for lawyers and named apparently for the London Temple. For more than 20 years leading lawyers of the city had suites there. The late Lieutenant-Governor Charles P. Johnson, celebrated criminal lawyer, had a suite on the second floor with his partners, Judge William C. Jones and Joseph G. Lodge. John D. Johnson, a veteran attorney, recalled today that his neighbors in the Temple Building some 45 years ago, included Congressman E. C. Kehr, William B. Donaldson, Robert M. Foster, Judge J. C. Normile, Eugene Tittman, Charles Gibson, Frederick N. Judson and Judge J. A. Tally.

Sam Wheeler, the elevator man in the Municipal Court Building, who is 72 years old, remembered the Temple Theater, which occupied a part of the building. In the early '70s, Wheeler related, he played "Hamlet" in an amateur "Hamlet" at the Temple, and he recalled that Kate Claxton appeared there in "The Two Orphans" and "Ole Bull," the Swedish violinist, in concert. With him in the amateur company was R. B. Jones, who won a measure of fame as composer of a popular song, "Fly Across the Ocean, Birdie." For a time yesterday it appeared as if the old landmark would collapse. With flames roaring in the almost inaccessible fifth floor, firemen were delayed by the difficulty of strutting hose lines on ladders and adjacent roofs to reach the blaze. Thousands of noon-hour spectators thronged the streets about the building.

Among some 20 persons who fled from the building was William Vincent Byars, 70-year-old poet, essayist and former newspaper man, who abandoned the fire and water an office filled with rarebooks and manuscripts on the fifth floor. Among the papers he lost was the manuscript of a 10-volume work on Shakespeare, the labor of years, with references and commentaries which had cost him more than $1500. A complete file of newspaper clippings of his miscellaneous poems and essays was soaked into an unreadable mass, although he had duplicates of most of this work at his home in Kirkwood.

Thirty Two From Fire. The fire, however, was confined to the two upper floors and the damage by fire and water was estimated by Chief Alt at $25,000. The tenants, including four cigar companies, an asphalt company, the G. A. R., some labor unions, a tobacconist's shop, a florist and a book dealer, were put out of business for the day. The Tracy Estate, representing the heirs of David Nicholson, who built the building, are owners of the property.

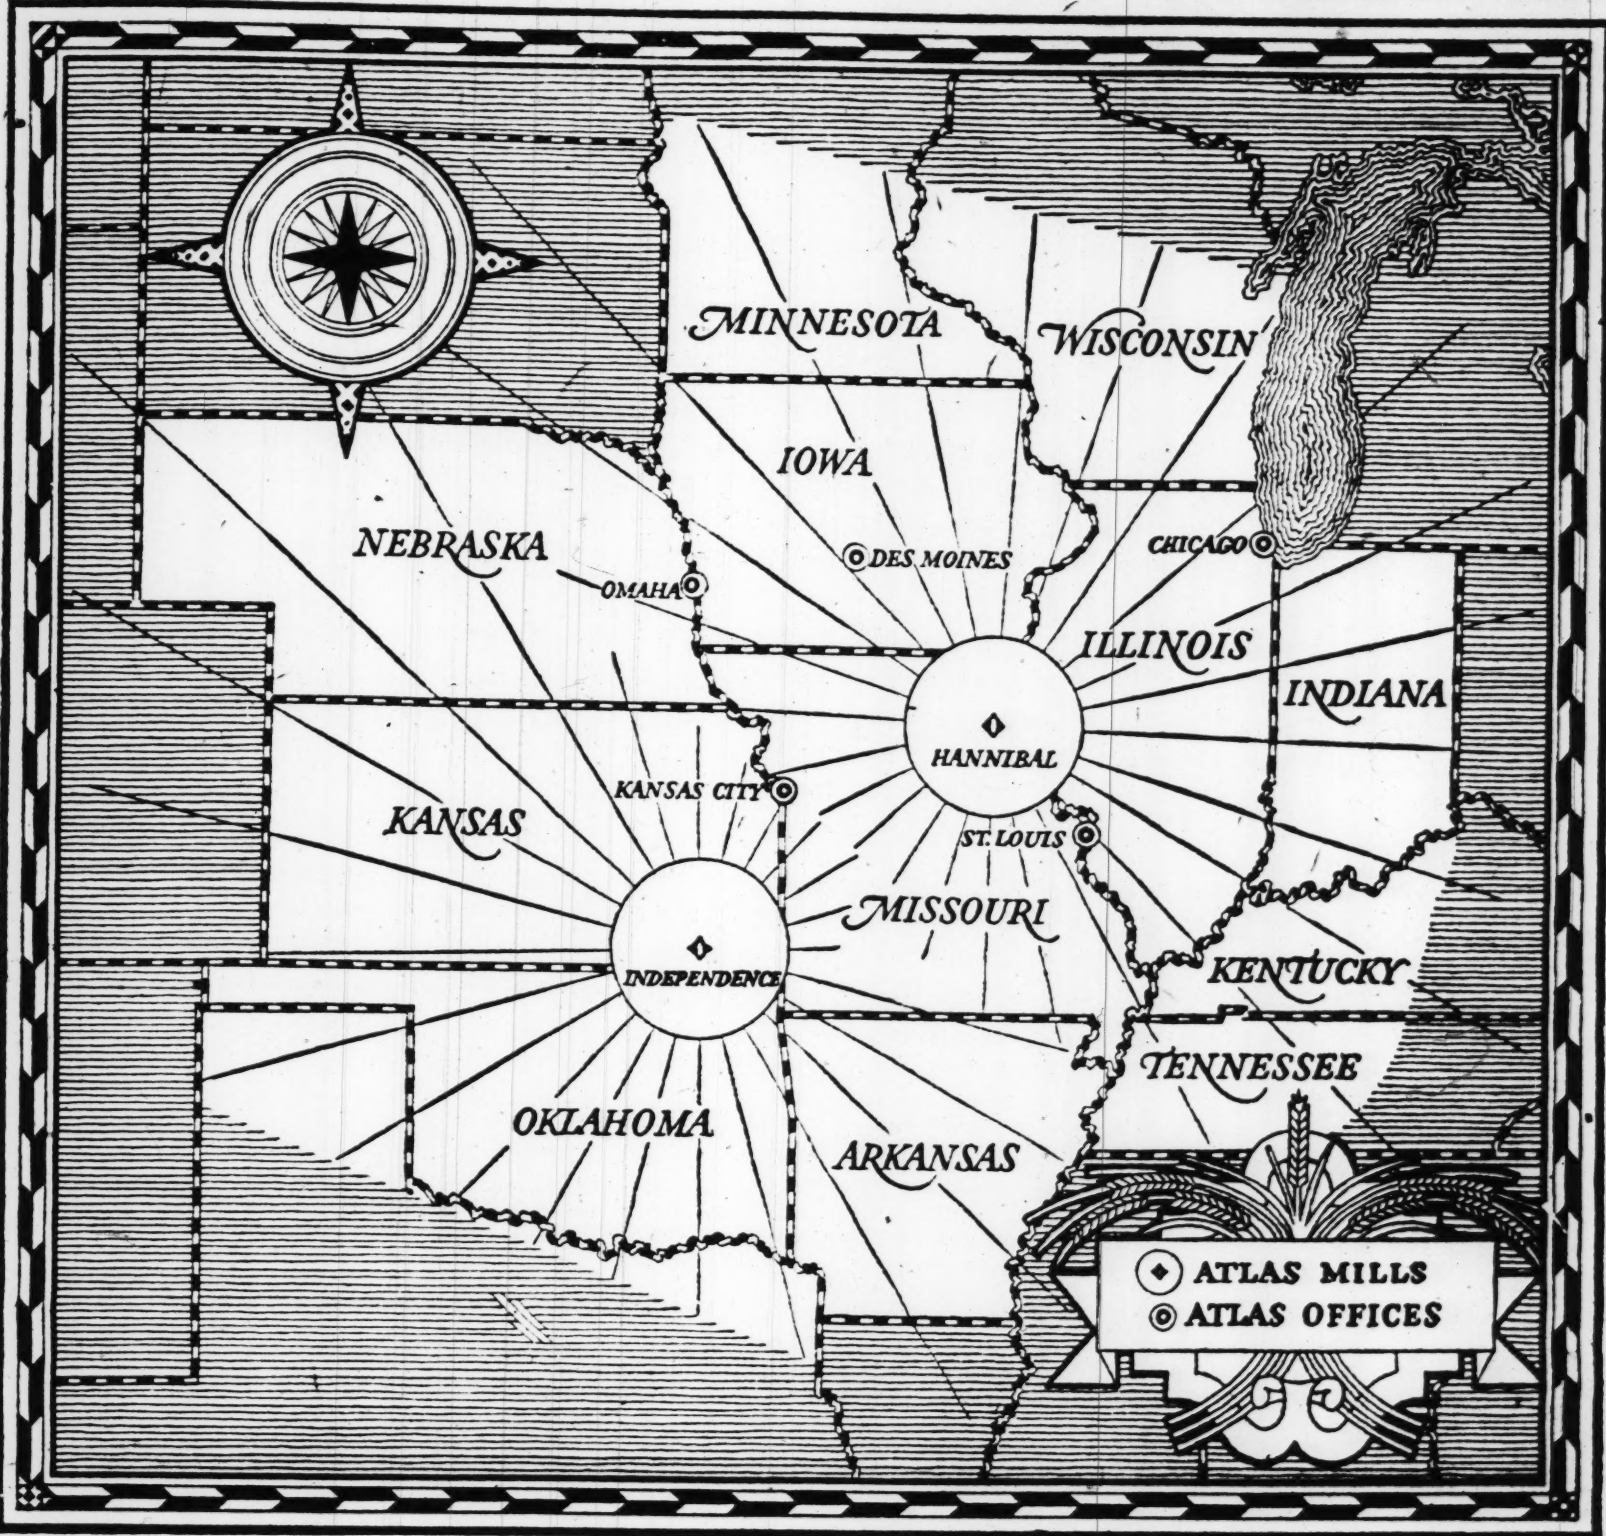

THREE U. S. PRISONERS ESCAPE

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 26.—Three Federal prisoners escaped from the Atlanta Federal penitentiary last night after wriggling through a tiny opening 2 feet above ground. One was recaptured near the prison today.

Albert Rosenberg, serving a 10-year sentence from Trenton, N. J.; Frank McGoldrick, serving three years from Trenton; and Basil Baughart, serving two years from Southern Ohio, participated in the first organized escape since "Dutch" Anderson tunneled his way to freedom in 1925. Two long-term prisoners lost their nerve when pistol fire beat down upon the fleeing men. Joseph C. Lauson, serving 20 years from Washington, D. C., and Joe Urzagitis, a 10-year prisoner from Toledo, O., were captured in a cell corridor and placed in solitary confinement. McGoldrick was the one captured today.

$1,000,000 Fire Burns Three Days. ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 26.—Its entire plant threatened with destruction, the Upton Cold Storage Co. today faced losses aggregating $1,000,000 as one of the worst fires in Rochester's history entered its third consecutive day. Forty firemen have been overcome by smoke since Monday night. The fire this morning entered the main building after eating its way through the six-story building in which it started. All the buildings have several floors underground and are without windows. Hose lines are being played through holes drilled through the walls.

FOR 24 YEARS ATLAS HAS GROWN UP WITH THE MIDDLE WEST

Every Seventh Barrel of Portland Cement produced between the Mississippi and the Rockies is made by Atlas

ONE-FIFTH of all the Portland cement made and used in the United States last year went into public and private improvements in seven great states of the Mississippi Valley—Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

Of this mountain of cement one barrel in every seven was manufactured by the Atlas Portland Cement Company in two extensive plants at Hannibal, Mo., and Independence, Kan.

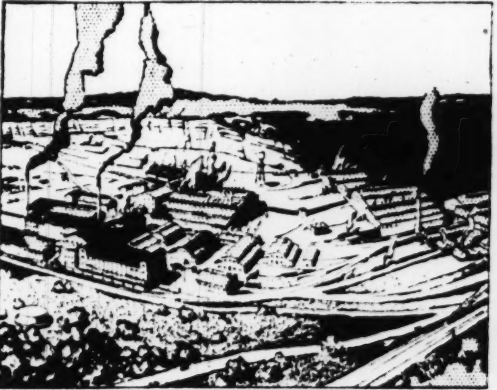

More Atlas is made west of the Mississippi River than cement of any other brand.

Atlas is a "Corn Belt" industry employing an army of citizens

An army of workers in these "Corn Belt" states make and market Atlas. Their earnings add to the income and buying power of the communities in which they live and own homes.

This Atlas contribution to mid-west employment, wealth, and progress began in 1903 with the building of its pioneer mill at Hannibal. A great factor was its development of the rotary kiln, making possible the production of cement of uniform quality, cutting the mill cost and cost to consumer, and increasing volume indefinitely.

Atlas Plant at Hannibal, Mo.

Missouri alone made and used five times as much Portland cement in 1925, for example, as the entire country manufactured in 1895. Employing old-fashioned production methods, without the rotary kiln, Missouri's record would have been almost impossible, and the necessary price to consumers would have kept demand down to a minimum.

The Atlas Dealer will help you solve your building or repair problems

The Atlas plan of distribution, in its turn, brings Atlas to consumers in the most economical manner possible—through the building material dealer. He is the sole distributor between Atlas plants and users. He adds to economy in distribution; he provides ample and convenient supplies. As purchasing agent for the community, he performs a valuable service and deserves your co-operation and support.

Atlas takes pride in its dealers and the intelligent aid they are able to give property owners. Call on the Atlas man in your city before you build or plan even small repairs. He carries materials of every kind. He has information covering all usual types of construction. His suggestions will save you money and add to the permanent value of any improvements you make.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

The stock market went through a sharp reversal in its movement today, after having been in a state of decline for several days. The market was characterized by a general covering of commitments, which brought about a rally in industrials as well as in the rail group.

Resistance to Selling. Several explanations were advanced for the change in sentiment. The first was the fact that the market had been in a state of decline for several days, and the second was the fact that the market had been in a state of decline for several days.

Half Shares in Better. Railroad stocks responded to the market current in the financial district, but a reaction of the market was not observed. The market was characterized by a general covering of commitments, which brought about a rally in industrials as well as in the rail group.

IF RHEUMATIC BEGIN ON SALTS

Says We Must Keep Feet Dry.
Avoid Exposure. Eat
No Sweets

Stay off the damp ground, avoid exposure, keep feet dry, eat no sweets of any kind for a while, drink lots of water and, above all, take a spoonful of Dad Salts occasionally to help keep down uric and toxic acids.

Rheumatism is caused by poison toxins, called acids, which are generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine. The pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of its impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this poison, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Dad Salts; put a table spoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove body waste also to stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to keep the blood of these rheumatic poisons.

Dad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

NO-PAR STOCK TAX SUIT LOST BY STATE

Circuit Judge Calhoun Rules Against Arbitrary Valuation
on Foreign Corporations.

A decision by Circuit Judge Calhoun today holds that the State of Missouri cannot arbitrarily fix the valuation of the no-par stock of a foreign corporation at $100 a share and assess the corporation transaction tax on that basis. The ruling is in a test suit filed by the State through Attorney-General Century, to compel the Pierce Petroleum Corp., a foreign company, to pay $2500 for its franchise tax for the year 1925 on a valuation of $100 a share for the no-par stock. The tax imposed was computed at one-twentieth of one per cent on a $100 valuation. Through its counsel, Lord, Hulslander & Kirtley, the Pierce Corporation refused to pay, holding that the valuation was based on an arbitrary figure. The amount of the tax, easily assessed, would not be greater than $750 counsel asserted.

Judge Calhoun, after hearing arguments from the defense and Assistant Attorney-General Claude Curtis for the State, found in favor of the defendant.

Arbitrary Fixing Attacked.
In their argument, counsel for the company also attacked the constitutionality of the imposing of a tax arrived at from a fictitious or arbitrary valuation, declaring the actual value of the no-par Pierce Petroleum stock was considerably less than $100 a share.

The State contended that in view of the 1921 act of the Missouri legislature authorizing domestic corporations to issue no-par stock and providing that, for the purpose of computing organization taxes, such stock was assumed to be of the value of $100 a share, the franchise tax should be assessed on that figure. However, the defense contended that the act conferred no such authority and even if it did, it was void.

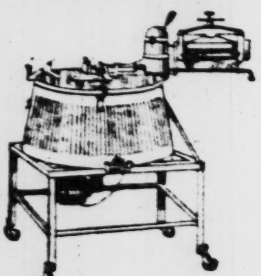

If the court's decision is sustained on appeal, which likely will be taken by the State to the Supreme Court, foreign corporations, it was pointed out, will be relieved from payment of a large amount of franchise taxes. But on the other hand, it was indicated, the State may be the gainer, as it will be permitted to collect in many instances where the no-par stock has an actual value in excess of $100 a share.

Will Provide Definite Policy.
In discussing the decision, an attorney connected with the litigation, said:

"Owing to the fact that no-par value stock is a comparatively new feature of corporate organization, the law in the several States where in corporations having this type of stock do business has been very unsettled and there are very few cases on the subject. This decision, if sustained, will formulate a definite policy in Missouri where, by foreign corporations, will have assumed that franchise taxes will be computed on an arbitrary basis and not an arbitrary one. The opinion is in harmony with the fundamental principles of government as originally enunciated by Adam Smith, one of the greatest of the early writers on the theory of government, and as approved by the United States Supreme Court in many of its decisions."

Children

The plans that call for individual instruction work well, where the teacher has but a few children, 10 or 12, to a class. The idea of freedom that demands that the children have the liberty to change their places, when their occupations take a recess when they need it, calls for a small group and a thoroughly equipped classroom. And behind the equipment and organization there must be a group of enlightened parents, who in the modern school and the methods that rise from it.

I am hoping that there will be some day, enough schools and enough trained educators to go round the whole child world. That the day will come when no teacher will be asked to make up for public neglect by giving of her private self. Such giving is worse than useless. Imagine a teacher's having to sit up until 2 in the morning in order to write the sheets of work that will provide the material for individual work. That teacher had nothing left to give of spirit or body when she faced her class of 25 next morning. Be as modern as you can be, but modernize the school and its equipment.

MEDITATIONS —OF A— MARRIED WOMAN

By HELEN ROWLAND

ON "THE GREAT DIVIDE"
LOVE SONG OF A MODERN WIFE.
Darling, do not turn away,
Though our love has run its course.
Keep your promise made that day—
Give, oh give me that divorce!

Surely, you remember how
Once you said you loved me so!
Be not adamant, now—
Darling, darling, let me GO!

Though we never meet again,
Say not that your love was dross!
With the alimony, then,
Darling, darling, come across!

judging from the evidence in the newspapers, most divorce suits might be better solved if they could be tried before a lunacy commission.

Somehow, it sort of cheers a wife up to discover how much more noble some other woman is having with her husband.

The modern man's sweetest memories are of his first love, his first bootlegger—and his first divorce.

Nothing so annoys a man, as to have things running so smoothly here home that they give him no excuse for going out and looking for consolation.

Even when a husband is only "a cross," he makes such an effective background for a woman to drape herself on, that she hesitates to part with him.

Alas, divorce is rapidly becoming one of these "modern consolations"—which we expect to find in every up-to-date home.

Parting with a husband is like parting with a tooth; you may have an anesthetic at the time, but the pain and the emptiness last a long while afterward.

Children's Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Chatterer Has a Tantrum.

A tantrum's more than temper lost.
Before you have one, count the cost.
—Old Mother Nature.

He hadn't been there long when he saw Chatterer the Red Squirrel.

Just as soon as Chatterer the Red Squirrel left the stump where he had found Whitefoot the Woodmouse living, and from which he had driven Whitefoot, the Black Shadow was creeping through the Green Forest and Whitefoot knew that Chatterer would not return that day. He knew that Chatterer did not want to be out after dark. But Whitefoot himself likes the dark. He feels safer then. He knows that there is nothing not the least, leastest, wisest thing about dark when it is his friend. He knows that in darkness there are fewer eyes to see him. So Whitefoot is always glad when the Black Shadow comes.

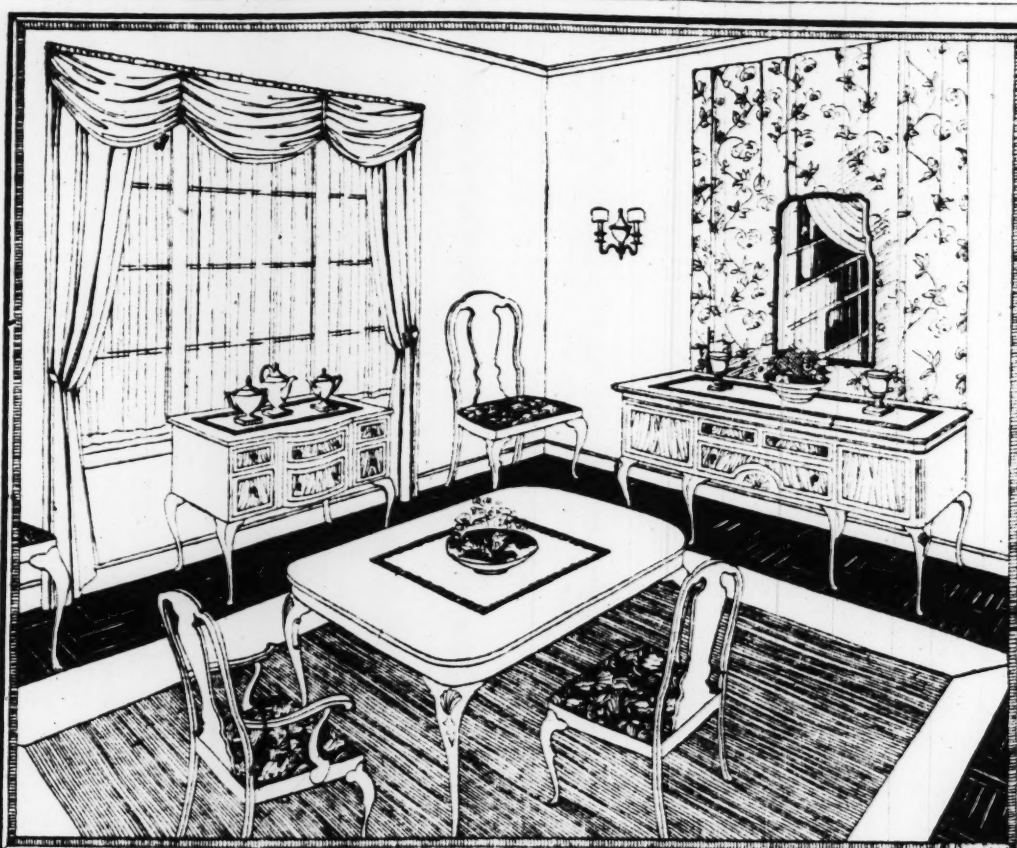

"It will be just like Chatterer to come back here tomorrow to see if I am here," said Whitefoot to himself as he sat his supper of pine nuts. "He just loves to make trouble for other people. He wouldn't possibly pass up such a chance as this. No sir, he couldn't sleep up such a chance as this. As early as jolly, round, red Mr. Sun will go climbing up in the blue, blue sky tomorrow morning, Chatterer will come over here some time during the day. He says those words, but they are mine now. He doesn't want them; he won't use them; I do want them and I will use them. He's going to have a surprise party when he gets over here."

Now Whitefoot hadn't wanted his time since he had come into the old stump to live. No, indeed, he hadn't wanted his time. He knew all about that old stump and everything around it. He knew that a certain root of that old stump was hollow for nearly its whole length. He knew that the entrance to that hollow root was so small that it was a tight squeeze for him to get through and was altogether too small for Chatterer to get through. Also, that the entrance was well hidden.

Now there isn't a lazy bone in Whitefoot the Woodmouse when there is any reason for him to keep busy. He promptly went to work with all his might, carrying those weeds down into that hollow and throwing them away. Once in a while he would stop and rest for a minute or two. Then he would go to work again. By the time jolly round Mr. Sun started his daily climb up in the blue, blue sky, there wasn't a pine seed left in the old storeroom in that stump. No, sir, not one seed was left. They were all stored away in that hollow root. Whitefoot was tired, but he was very happy also. He washed his face and hands, for Whitefoot is very neat. You know, his hands are white and he has to wash them to keep them clean. Then he left the old stump and skipped across the snow to a little round hole which led down through the snow to a certain hollow log buried under the snow. Down this he disappeared. He was going to take a nap.

After he had had a good nap, Whitefoot climbed out and sat beneath a snow-covered hemlock where he couldn't be seen.

The Queen Anne Diningroom

THERE is almost immediately an assurance that a room will be interesting and attractive when Queen Anne pieces are used to furnish it. This type of furniture is generally conceded to be the most beautiful of all styles. Into its character are added many of the most striking and worthwhile qualities of other periods. It is elegant in design, with its curvilinear lines, graceful curves and simplicity and richness in decoration. Then, too, it is comfortable, being patterned along lines which are indicative of ease.

The sketch demonstrates how becoming Queen Anne furniture is in a dining room. While it conveys a strong feeling of luxury and richness, the pieces can be bought for a moderate sum—the price graduating with the quality of the wood. It is most always designed in either walnut or mahogany with a semi-gloss. However, sometimes adaptations of the period are painted. The furniture illustrated is in walnut with a medium gloss and is upholstered in tapestry.

The beauty of the furniture is further brought out by the walls, which are done in a soft gray blue. The ceiling, like the woodwork, is in a deep cream and the floor is a semi-gloss finished in natural wood with a simple parquet pattern. A suggestion like this for the background is a relief for the dark furniture and brings light and color into the room.

As a silhouette for the buffet, a large tapestry panel is hung, and in it are colors similar to those in the upholstery only more brilliant in tone. The predominant note is old rose which is repeated in the hangings of a one-toned damask. The glass curtains are peach blue, and the window shades are gray and white. The rug is a dark blue chenille which blends in a pleasing manner with the walls, furniture and hangings. As an additional note the silver can be the Queen Anne pattern.

Favorite Nursery Dishes.

Hotchkiss nursery folk are credited with many peculiarities about their diet, there are a number of foods that are standard favorites with nearly all. Both Learned Something

THE ex-parte proctor who had clicked in the movie production game wanted his 10-year-old boy to shed his dialect, so he communicated with a noted dialect coach, a certain people of Miss Grosses. The school responded: "Send us your child, but you must please that name of his relatives or companions see him for six months." To which the movie magnate agreed. When the term was up he called for his child.

"No, Mother Professor," he beamed. "I'm some kind of a movie star, you know, and I can't go to school."

"Splendid!" replied the teacher. "How doing today?"

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

Winter Weavers.

THEY weave a robe so white, so white no fly-bud is whiter, they weave a robe so airy light no thistle-down is lighter. A robe they weave when skies are gray and when no horizon lingers, and yet they make Earth fair and gay with dainty-fingered fingers. Oh, not in any garden new bloom violets or roses, and nowhere any flowers decked though its loveliness discloses. And not in any sunlit grove the linnets lift their voices, nor in his notes of purest love the linnets lift their voices.

Winter weavers keep their nimble fingers busy, they weave a robe so soft, so deep to still have branches sighing. They weave a robe of matchless white, a stainless robe of splendor, surpassing Maxine's brief delight and April's promise tender.

Negligees are receiving considerable attention at the more important women's shops. Velvets achieve prominence in many of the new models, and velvet trappings are important among the embellishments.

The Diary of a New Father

LETTER from the new father to Joan:

"Dear Joan: Well, I am glad you are having a good time with all our folks and the old crowd. When do you figure on coming home?"

"I did not either forget to tell the kernal and the milkman. And I sent the laundry out, too."

"Did the baby really stand the trip all right, in that darn basket you carried him in? I hope he didn't catch cold on the train, could develop into pneumonia so easily."

"Think you will stay away long? Have a good time."

"The Andersons have invited me over to dinner tomorrow night. Mrs. Anderson is pretty, isn't she?"

"Do you feel lonesome for me? I'm lonesome."

"Kiss the baby for me. For goodness' sake, don't let all our relatives spoil him. It was a bad time to take him home, just when we had him trained to sleep so well. I haven't been late to the office once, and I changed my shirt, too."

"I hope you are enjoying your trip. When are you coming home?"

"Love, BOB."

Maple Cinnamon Toast.

Maple cinnamon toast is a delightful variation of the acceptable tea and toast served at the winter Sunday tea. Cut bread in thin slices and then in triangles, toast a light brown on both sides, spread with butter, powdered maple sugar and a dusting of cinnamon. Set in hot oven two or three minutes to blend sugar and cinnamon. Serve hot.

Will you take the word of 50,000 dentists?

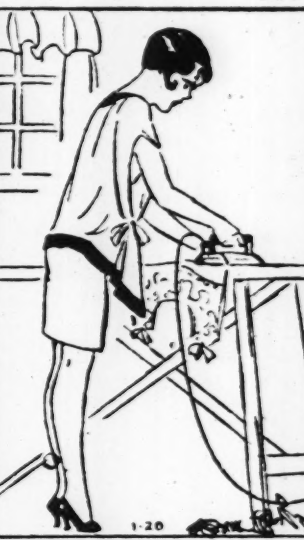

EVERYWHERE today are conflicting theories regarding the cause of tooth decay and gum infection. To get authoritative information on the matter, we asked 50,000 dentists—the entire dental profession—to give us their opinions of the most frequent cause of tooth decay and gum infection. Their answers definitely establish these points:

- (1) Acids are the most frequent cause of tooth decay and infected gums.
- (2) The most serious trouble occurs at the place where teeth and gums meet—known as The Danger Line.
- (3) The best product known to neutralize acids in the mouth is Milk of Magnesia.

There could be no more convincing evidence as to the safe and sure way to protect your teeth and gums.

Little Miss Malaprop

By Fay Stevenson

MISS MALAPROP bowed to her employer when she met him in the hall early one morning. The bow was returned courteously. As chance would have it Miss Malaprop met him again and bowed. This time her employer turned his head and seemed to be thinking of something else.

Miss Malaprop was embarrassed. Why did the man who spoke so cordially but a short time ago now spurn her? Had she broken some rule of etiquette to be so snubbed?

In talking the matter over with another girl Miss Malaprop learned that in meeting the same person many times within a day one does not continue to bow after the first greeting. After that one either looks away or merely smiles.

Under formal circumstances a lady is supposed to bow to a gentleman first, but people who know each other well bow spontaneously without observing this rule. One must not confuse absent-mindedness or a forgetful memory with an intentional "cut." Anyone who is preoccupied is apt to pass others without being aware of their presence and without the slightest intentional rudeness.

Gooseberry is much discussed for spring. In a recent revue of resort fashions, white with color appeared again and again in day-time costumes and white and silver predominated for evening.

Doubles the Beauty of Your Hair

The simple hair styles of today make beautiful hair a necessity. Luckily, beautiful hair is now easily obtained. It is simply a matter of shampooing.

Proper shampooing makes the hair soft and silky. It brings out all the real life and lustre, all the natural wave and color, and leaves it fresh, looking, glossy and bright as fresh. While your hair must have frequent and regular washing to keep it beautiful, it cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soaps. The free alkali in ordinary soaps soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why discriminating women, everywhere, now use Mulified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo. This clear, pure and entirely greaseless product brings out all the real beauty of the hair and cannot possibly injure it.

Two or three teaspoonfuls is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

It leaves the hair soft and easy to manage and makes it fairly sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre. You can get Mulified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo at any drug store. A four-ounce bottle lasts for months.
